PEEKSKILL.

Judge Brown has handed down a decision which will interest many villages in the Empire State. It affects the powers of Boards of Supervisors to extend the corporate limits of villages. In 1870 a law was passed by the Legislature relating to the general in-corporation of villages. This act gave the boards of Supervisors of the various counties in the State the power to enlarge boundaries of any village within the county upon the application of the least county upon the application of the Board of Trustees of the interested village. In accordance with this law the Board of Trustees of Peekskill applied to the Board of Supervisors of Westchester County last July for an extension of the boundaries of this last July for an extension of the boundaries of this village. Many owners of property were glad to be brought into the village, and others were opposed, because they claimed their taxes would be higher in the village limits than they would outside. When the assessment roll of this year was made assessment roll of this year was made out, these dissatisfied critizens refused to pay their assessments and taxes. They pay their assessments and taxes. They pay their assessment of the Supreme Court for a writ of certiforari to review the proceedings of the assessors. Judge Brown's decision holds that the assessment was fliegal and must be stricken from the rolls, and that the Board of Supervisors had no authority under the law to pass such an act. The corporation authorities will undoubtedly appeal the case to establish the legality of the matter thoroughly.

MOUNT RISCO. The fight between the village Board of Health and the New-York Fertilizer Company has ended by a victory for the local authorities. When Commissioner Daly made his raid on the Croton watershed nuisances he allowed the Fertilizer Company to deodorize the he allowed the Fertilizer Company to designed the refuse from the cesspools in the village. The people threatened to pull down the building of the company if it did not desist. Yesterday the New-York authorities informed the company that it would have to stop and remove its plant to a more sectioded spot. The plant was removed, and the building is now used for the storing of air-tight barrels in carting the refuse to the fertilizer.

DANGEROUSLY BURNED BY A. LIVE WIRE. Edward McMulen, thirty years old, a lineman employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company, received injuries yesterday which will probably result in death, from a live wire belonging to an electric light company. Samuel Meyer and a gang day at 10:30 and 2:30 o'clock. Inemen were busy yesterday making repairs to wires in different parts of the city. When they reached Grove-st. and Newark-ave., McMallen was irected to ascend a pole where some wires were not properly adjusted. He did so.

A few minutes later the people on the streets who had been watching McMallen were startled by hearing him scream in an agonizing manner. They saw McMullen hanging suspended in the air by a wire. It was a live wire and soon manifested this fact. McMullen's left arm was swung over the wire. His face and breast rested on it, and his legs were face and breast rested on it, and his legs were twisted around the top crossplece on the pide. A parie blue flame could be seen about McMullen, and the witnesses saw that he was being burned.

The screams of the unfortunate man gradually grew fainter, and his hold on the crossplece with his legs relaxed. When Poreman Meyer saw this he shouted to a lineman to follow, and setzing a rope he clambered up the pole rapidly. Meyer threw the rope around McMullen and pulled him from the wire and lowered him to the ground. McMullen was unconscious. He was taken to the City Hospital, and his horrible burns were cared for. The flesh on his left arm was burned away where the wire had come in centact with it.

How ingeniously the clothmakers weave so that the cloth in our mixed tweed suits may be up to our standard of style and fit! One suit-that looks like a mixed gray, softened by a pleasant glow of old gold-is really made up of threads of black, white, and many grays be-tween, carelessly and yet how care-fully!—sprinkled with two shades of tawny yellow. And then to think that all the while they must keep it airy and of a color that won't show dust!

They have done it well; they have made us many other beautiful and useful cloths-at your service.
